

DR. JAMES G. GILKEY SPEAKS ON COLLEGE PROBLEMS AT CONVO

"Self-confidence" is Subject of Noted Springfield Clergyman

Dr. James G. Gilkey of Springfield, Mass., was the speaker at the convocation held last Thursday in the gymnasium. He was introduced by Mr. Roy D. Hunter, acting president of the university.

Dr. Gilkey presented his own subject, which was "Self Confidence." He opened by reading a letter written to him by a student at a college in western Massachusetts, which put forth the problem of loss of self confidence and a growing feeling of self distrust that faces many students some time in their life. He went on to say that there were four fundamental reasons of sources which cause this feeling.

Imagined Popularity

The first was the discovery that many of your associates do not like you. A sense of self consciousness grows when you fail to discover a reason for the imagined unpopularity. Many times you cannot analyze this hostility.

The next point in Dr. Gilkey's talk was that the student discovers that he has only average ability, and that his great results could be obtained only by hard work and the understanding that there are few geniuses in the world. The third cause might be said to hinge on the second, that the present student realizes that he will probably end his life in a small job in an unknown community and his name will never become known all over the world. Dr. Gilkey pointed out, however, that there always remain durable satisfactions in life no matter where you are and what you do: a clear conscience, a sense of achievement, and a succession of fine and interesting thoughts.

Braille's Life

The last, perhaps, is more tangible, a stinging unmistakable feeling of defeat in athletics, scholastic work, of social well being, which comes because of coincidence, or any other unpredictable factor in life. Dr. Gilkey closed with the story of the courage and bravery of Louis Braille, who, blinded by a stroke of chance, gave the Braille system of reading to the blind. He said that there was always a place for courage in the world of today and of the future.

I.R.C. TO DISCUSS EUROPE AND PEACE

The International Relations club members will discuss questions of peace when they meet in the Commons Organization room on Wednesday evening, March 3, at 7:30. Three of the questions will be: "Can peace be maintained in Europe?" "Are European powers in the process of realignment into two armed camps?" "Is this realignment based on the complicated and elaborate pre-war system of alliances?"

The general subject of "Europe and Peace" was originally scheduled for a previous meeting, but was post-poned until this new date. William Spaulding, '38, will lead the group in discussion.

An important business meeting will follow the regular round-table session. All students are invited to sit in on the discussion.

University of New Hampshire?

Upon glancing over records in the post officer, it is found that the University of New Hampshire has been called by no less than twenty-two different names. The official name is "University of New Hampshire". Other names it is known by are: New Hampshire State college, New Hampshire college, New Hampshire university, New Hampshire College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, Durham college (from Haverhill, Mass.), State college, New Hampshire State university, New Hampshire State university and college, the Durham college (from Somersworth, N.H.), State University of N. H., Durham Agriculture college, University of Durham, Durham State university, Durham institute, Durham academy, Durham, university, New Hampshire Agriculture and Military academy.

GILKEY'S PICTURES SHOW SOVIET LIFE

Government Film Shows Development of German Military Machine

Dr. James Gordon Gilkey presented a series of motion pictures on Russia and Germany in Murkland auditorium last Thursday night. He accompanied the pictures with a lecture explaining the conditions under which they were taken. Dr. Gilkey stated that these pictures of Russia were uncensored by the Soviet government, and that he was not offering communistic propaganda.

Two Periods of Russia

He had taken pictures of Russia in both 1933 and 1935, and he showed the change which took place in those years, which would lead the audience to conclude that it was for the better. The clothes of the people in these pictures showed an improvement in dress of 1935 over the ragged clothing worn in 1933, and the persons filmed seemed in better health and well fed.

Scenes of a communal village where taxes were paid in the produce grown by the peasants were exhibited. They were allowed to sell the residue for their own profit.

A more pleasant side of Russia was seen when Dr. Gilkey told about the kulaks whose property was taken away from them. He said that these people would die of starvation if neighbors did not help them.

Pictures of one of the few churches which have active services were shown, as well as of one beautiful church which is now an anti-religious museum.

Presented with Films

Dr. Gilkey was not allowed to take his own pictures of Germany, but he was presented with 1200 feet of film by the government, which he cut down to 800 feet for public showing. This film showed the development of the military machine in Germany since the breaking of the Versailles Treaty. In these pictures Hitler made himself impressive by his slow, dignified tread. Dr. Gilkey said that he was a very deliberate speaker, but if his listeners remained long enough, they would find themselves interested.

The final reel contained colored films of Russia.

Dr. Gilkey said that he hoped to return to Europe this year for more pictures on these countries.

MR. ROBERT T. COFFIN SPEAKS TO WOMEN AT CONVOCATION, WED.

Winner of Pulitzer Prize Has Written Several Volumes of Verse

Mr. Robert Tristram Coffin of Bowdoin will speak at a compulsory meeting of women students Wednesday, March 3, at 4:00 P.M. Mr. Coffin is winner of a Pulitzer award and a noted writer and poet. His work has been principally in the literature and life of the seventeenth century.

He has published several volumes of verse, and novels, biography, autobiography, and essays. His two most recent and probably best-known works are Strange Holiness, which was largely instrumental in winning for him a Pulitzer award, and John Dawin, a widely approved novel. Most of his verse is personal.

Mr. Coffin was born in Brunswick, Maine and his writing reflects his life in Maine and his summers by the sea. After studying and teaching at Bowdoin, Princeton, Oxford and Wells, he has accepted a permanent chair of English at Bowdoin. An exception to his usual style is the writing in Ballads of Square-Toed Americans which is suggestive of the rugged New England of the past.

Mr. Coffin's writing in prose has, perhaps, greater critical approval at present than his verse. Good evidence, however, that the latter is enjoyed is the constant appearance of his poems in numerous magazines. His reputation in verse is due to his sense of form, the perfection of lines and epithets, the purity of his rhymes, and the simplicity of his imagery. The title Strange Holiness is a key to the quietly religious and mystical moods created in many of his more recent poems.

Mr. Coffin is popular as an informal lecturer and as a reader of his own poems.

JUNIOR PROM DATE SET FOR MAY 7TH

John McKeigue, general chairman of the Junior Prom committee, announced recently that the date for the Prom has been decided upon and will be May 7th. An extensive program, including decorations in the University colors, provision for a good 'swing' band, and a new plan of presentation of the Queen's cup is being worked out by the various committees. The Queen this year will be nominated from the class at large, and elected by popular ballot.

Joint Fraternity Banquet Proposed

Casque and Casket, interfraternity governing body, at a meeting last Wednesday night, discussed plans for an interfraternity banquet to be held when President Fred Engelhardt arrives in April. According to the proposed plan, each fraternity is to decide whether or not it is in favor of the banquet at its Tuesday night meeting.

John Dane of the Theta Chi fraternity is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for this fete.

There will be another meeting of the committee this Wednesday night at the Commons Trophy room to hear the reactions of the various fraternities.

THIRD LIVING ART EXHIBIT AT LIBRARY

Contemporary Paintings Are Shown In 300 Cities

The third exhibit sponsored by Living American Art, Inc., opened last Thursday, February 25th, in the rotunda of the Hamilton Smith library. The twelve pictures making up the exhibit will be on display until March 11th.

This showing is the third in a series inaugurated four months ago, constituting the greatest venture in the distribution of works of art in America. These contemporary paintings by American artists have been reproduced by means of the collotype process, and have been sent to exhibitions in 300 cities in 36 states.

In extending to Living American Art, Inc., facilities for these exhibitions, the interest of the University is directed only toward the presentation of one trend of thought among a selected group of contemporary American artists. The jury which selects these pictures includes three well known artists, Louis Bouche, Alexander Brook, and Adolph Dehn, and Professor Huges Mearns of New York University.

The pictures included in the showing are Winter in the Catskills by Doris Lee; Cat and Kittens by Henry E. Schnakenberg; Comedy by Audrey Buller; Landscape by Henry Mattson; Fall of Old Houses by Ernest Fiene; The Laurent Pony Cart by Bernard Karfiol; Still Life by Morris Kantor; Plowed Field by Sidney Laufman; Winter in the Verde Valley by Henry Strater; Fish House, New England by Marsden Hartley; Street Scene by Paul Burlin; and New England by Arnold Blanche.

COMMUTERS' CLUB PLANS OUTING, SUN.

The Commuters' Cooperative club with headquarters at Ballard hall are planning an outing at the Outing club cabin at Mendum's pond next Sunday.

Cars will leave from Dover, Durham, Portsmouth and Newmarket on Sunday morning and will return Sunday night. The leaders of this trip are Ed Hayes, president of the club, and Bernard Shaw, chairman of social committees.

This is the second outing this year that the club has held at Mendon's pond.

LEGISLATIVE GROUPS AT SPECIAL CONVO IN MEN'S GYMNASIUM

Two Guests from Senate Also Address The Student Body

Three committees from the New Hampshire State legislature were the guests of the University at a special convocation in the gymnasium yesterday.

Acting President Roy D. Hunter, who spoke for the school in welcoming the guests, introduced Mr. Oren V. Henderson, registrar of the University and speaker of the house of representatives. Mr. Hunter said that "Dad" was the friend of the students of New Hampshire.

Dad Henderson

Mr. Henderson thanked the University for "loaning" him to the state so that he could keep up his "hobby" the legislature, for twelve years. He stated that in the last twelve years there had been twenty-four men from the University of New Hampshire in the state legislature, and he hoped that the University would produce many more men and women who are needed in the state legislature.

Mr. Gordon F. Tolman, '32, of the University committee was the first speaker. Mr. Tolman told a humorous story, and then stated that truly educated men were needed in every field and especially in politics. He told the students to get everything that they possibly could from the University and then go out and use what they had learned.

The second speaker, Mr. Ernest W. Small of Meredith, who spoke for the Normal school committee, is a graduate of Bates college. Mr. Small told an incident that happened on this campus forty years ago, which had the entire assembly in laughter.

Representative Wylie

The third speaker was Mr. Craig Wylie of Concord, who spoke for the committee on education. Mr. Wylie reminded the students that they were a part of one of America's oldest in-

CRITIC?

Critics! The campus is full of these criticizing people who pass along to their friends their ideas of what is wrong with the school, its organizations, the people on campus, and anything about the University.

On every corner you meet one or two of them, who make it no secret to you that Coach Soandso is not suited for his job, or that some organization should do something to "make themselves useful", or that some plan suggested will not work. You find these individuals everywhere, it seems.

Of course the campus is far from being overrun by these critical pests but the certain few that there are speak loud enough to make up for quantity.

There is always one noticeable characteristic, however, about these self-made critics. Not once will you hear a helpful suggestion as to how improvements can be made on the subject they are downing. Never are their criticisms helpful. It seems as if their ambition was to tear an idea apart and leave it stripped of its good points. Never is this idea redressed in new and helping points.

Are we going to be critical pests or are we going to try to better a situation if we think we can? Remember that progress is made by helping, not hindering.

HATS OFF!

Congratulations and hats off to the persons responsible for introducing the amplifying system into convocation yesterday afternoon. The students in the back of the gymnasium could hear the speakers clearly for the first time this year. May we continue to have the amplifier at all our convocations.

FROSH RELAY TEAM WINS FROM BRIDGETON

The freshman winter relay team added another win to its record as it defeated Bridgeton academy in a feature event of the annual quadrangle meet of the Portland Suburban Track League at Portland, Friday night.

Burt Mitchell, the frosh lead-off man, gained a five-yard lead on his opponent and each of the following runners kept it. Frank Wright, running anchor for the freshmen against Bob Dickson, speedy prep school star, kept his five-yard advantage and gained more to cross the finish line about eight yards ahead of his opponent.

New Hampshire men were: Mitchell, Chretien, Johnston, and Wright. Time—3:11. Distance—1500 yards.

TROPHY DONATED TO NE LACROSSE LEAGUE

It was learned last week that a solid silver trophy, to be held for one year by the championship team, has been donated to the New England Intercollegiate Lacrosse league by Mr. L. Cabot Briggs, a member of the Harvard lacrosse team in 1931.

The New Hampshire varsity lacrosse team was one of the leading contenders for the last year's championship of this league, which was formed in 1935. The other New England teams in the league are Yale, Dartmouth, Harvard, Williams, M.I.T., Springfield, Brown and Tufts.

Announcement of this new trophy was made at the annual dinner for the lacrosse league officials last week at the home of Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, noted psychiatrist and lacrosse enthusiast. This trophy is to be in possession of the winning team until it has been won by a different team.

THE LISTENING POST

by Donald Mendelson

The debate over the President's Court Reorganization Program still continues unabated in its intensity. Many of the Democratic leaders have claimed that the President was given the right to bring about a reformation because of his overwhelming plurality vote in the recent election. However, it must be taken into consideration that the President never contemplated rejuvenating the Supreme Court. Had this been done, the President might never have received the tremendous vote that he did. In view of this, the opposition contends that any attempt to pack the court is not necessarily being done with the support of the people who elected him to a second term in the White House. Therefore, it is the duty of the President to seek reforms not through the means of packing the Court but rather through the process of constitutional amendment.

However, it is not enough to argue simply over the undue advantage the President obtained over his opponents by dodging the Supreme Court issue during the campaign. The real issue is whether the acts of a democratically elected ruling body are to be constantly nullified by a Court which refuses in the main to interpret the Constitution in a manner desired by the people at the present time. There have been numerous instances where the Court has adjusted itself to the demands of the people in the past. One thing is certain and essential regarding the Supreme Court. The Court is the interpreter of the Constitution which guarantees the people certain fundamental liberties which might be destroyed if the Court was packed with judges favorable to all New Deal legislation.

The President is adamant in his stand, insisting that recovery cannot possibly proceed with strict interpretations of the Constitution. The people's welfare would not thus be injured, but rather their general welfare would be improved by legislation which would provide for a much happier and secure life. Even if the Court should be packed, it is highly improbable that the new justices would do anything to alter fundamentally the rights of the people as they now stand regarding freedom of religion, speech and press.

President Roosevelt has stated that he has no designs upon assuming a third term. His Court action is to facilitate the work of not only his administration, but also that of subsequent administrations. There is no doubt that this plan will be carefully considered from all angles and that its final vote will not take place strictly along party lines.

ABOUT TOWN

No phase of college life is more discouraging than the prevalence and power of absurd rumor. The facile acceptance of such rumor . . . often harmless enough in itself . . . is an ill omen of the probable thinking habits of college students.

Snow all around us . . . but Durham remains a Winter Summer resort—Stubby Lovern's gang turned off the drinking fountains and it started to rain . . . water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink—we have it from good sources of a Senior who bummed out to Oberlin College to see the girl friend during last Exam Week . . . just reaffirming our faith in the old adage of distance lending enchantment—a specialist says you should lie in bed 20 minutes after you wake up, to calm your nerves . . . yeah, but it won't improve the prof's nerves to walk into class 20 minutes late—of course you heard of the sorority which planned to entertain a professor at dinner . . . the prof called up the night of the date wanting to know if the engagement wasn't a week from that date . . . clever diplomacy, we call it, to reply in the affirmative—we read in the papers of the Greenfield, Mass. woman who was picked for the Townsend Plan experiment, 'because a woman knows how to spend money' . . . now there's a sound reason to which no-one ought disagree—we're not accusing anyone in particular, but the girl friend of a Senior might call it two-timing if she knew her one and only was known to be escorting another to the Metropolitan . . . in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to Louie Armstrong!

Tournament notes . . . Lights out, sweetheart . . . Somersworth was the only team to bring a mascot . . . several N. H. grads had teams entered . . . the cheerleaders seen in action gave a lesson in how it should be done . . . congratulations to the winners and to Lundy and his assistants.

Dr. Alexis Carrel says man is a concrete object . . . some of our profs might agree if the doctor were talking only of the part above the ears—noticed a framed letter from the mother of a jilted girl in the room of a Sophomore frat man . . . that's one note which will never get to the pink ribbon stage . . . to say nothing of black ribbon—read of another sit down strike . . . we can't help but wonder that maybe the first sit down striker did it on the limb of a tree!

The Legislators told some amusing incidents . . . we were wondering if the implication is that we of the present day are pretty slow—isn't it strange that there is so much interest in the annual Town Report . . . it's events are two years old at printing—a pretty girl came down the walk from T hall . . . her lips were as red as the feather in her hat, but she didn't know she had a run in her stocking!

The dust of the basketball court which was raised by the interscholastic tournament and the varsity-Maine game has now settled to be disturbed only by the feet of the clumsy phy. ed. players. King Basketball, who decidedly predominated the sporting scene last week, reigns no longer. Nevertheless, the events of his dizzy reign will be rehashed for a long time.

The scholastic tournament, as was expected, was a colossal success. In those two days of play, on Friday and Saturday, as much sports drama was enacted as in an entire season. The state and the university are both proud of her basketball teams. Our hopes are that every player and manager received one of his big thrills of high school life, and our regrets are that every team couldn't have brought home the bacon of the coveted championship.

Looking the tourney over, we find:

The outstanding player—Francis Ledger of Appleton—all-State selection and an Indian boy who was playing his first year of basketball.

The biggest upset—Nashua, beating Keene in the semi-final.

The most thrilling game—Keene beating Portsmouth in an overtime period in the preliminary.

"BIRD IN HAND" CAST ALTERED BY ILLNESS

Due to the sudden illness of William Norton, Paul Martineau will play the role of Sir Robert Arnwood in the Mask and Dagger production of John Drinkwater's play "Bird in Hand" it was announced last week.

Associate Professor William G. Hennessey felt that Norton was showing up well in rehearsals, and he believed that his performance would have been of the finest quality, if his illness had not prevented his continuance in the production.

Martineau is a veteran performer, playing the part of Jacob Twisden in the recent production of John Galsworthy's "Loyalties". It is felt that Martineau will adequately fill in the vacancy.

The man behind the scenes—Carl Lundholm, director.

The least appreciated and hardest-working men—the referees.

We favored Berlin and Appleton to be the champs. Well . . .

The varsity basketball team went and did it. That rousing victory of 40-35 over Maine was a glorious grand finale to a rather disappointing season of three wins and twelve losses. "In and out", "tough luck" and "not true to form"—call it what you may, it was a disappointing season.

Nevertheless, the Maine game was a corker, and the fine spirit and hard work of Arnie Rokean, Artie Hanson, Johnny DuRie, Skip Witter and Pierre Boy in the last seven games made them worthy of every point of the five-point margin.

Nine victories and four defeats. That's the record which John Conroy, in his second year of coaching, speaks of when he refers to this year's freshman quintet. The first of the season saw the squad as a group of high school all-stars who failed to click as a combination until the midway mark of the year. The team was stitutions, the University, and that they should be proud of their part in it.

As a special surprise to the students, two members of the New Hampshire State senate were asked to say a few words to the group.

Senator Connor of Exeter commended the faculty and the heads of the University for their cooperation during the depression when money was scarce. He stated that a lot of money had been spent by the state on the University, and that the senate felt it had been used wisely. Senator Connor said that a building program to start immediately, calling for the sum of two million dollars to be expended on the University of New Hampshire, had his whole hearted approval.

School's Growth

The final speaker, Senator Calef of Barrington, spoke briefly of the growth of the University of New Hampshire, from a school of 28 students to a University with a total enrollment of 1532 students. He likened the growth of the school to the growth of a farmer's son. As the son grows older and larger the farmer has to buy larger clothes for him, and as the University grows older and larger, the state has to build larger buildings to make adequate facilities for the students.

The University of New Hampshire will have four representatives on the All-New England lacrosse squad which will be published soon in the National Intercollegiate Lacrosse guide.

Al Mitchener, Herbie Merrill, Moon Mullen, and Bob Manchester are the players chosen.

Out went the light in the gym on Friday night and as a consequence the Nashua-Laonia game started at 8:30 instead of 7:30. For what seemed like hours a good natured crowd sat in the dark, awaiting the electrician to repair the overloaded transformer. More frenzied spirits elected to leave the building by the fire escape with the light of matches and a full moon.

There were no casualties, just a long, long wait.

WILDCAT QUINTET WINS FROM MAINE IN SEASON'S FINAL

New Hampshire Surges Into Lead at Beginning of Second Half

In the finale to the Annual Interscholastic Basketball tournament, the varsity basketball team defeated the University of Maine quintet, 40-35 here last Saturday night.

Wildcats Score

The game opened with Boy connecting a foul shot for the first score. Scoring was about even for the remainder of the half with the score at the end of the half 18-16 in favor of Maine. The play of both teams was irregular during the opening period with many fouls being committed by both teams.

In the second half, however, the New Hampshire attack began to click and the Wildcats surged into the lead on scores by Rogean, Hanson and DuRie. After taking the lead at the beginning of the period the Wildcats held the upper hand until the game ended with New Hampshire leading, 40-35.

Rogean is High Scorer

The outstanding player for Maine was Lord who scored 13 points besides playing a strong defensive game. Captain Arnie Rogean, playing his final basketball

UNH WINTER SPORTS TEAM PLACES THIRD IN QUEBEC CONTEST

Skiers Were at Their Best In Cross-Country and Jumping Events

The varsity winter sports team completed its season Saturday with a favorable record by placing third in the three-day Intercollegiate Ski Union championships at St. Margarets, Quebec, in competition with eleven college teams. Dartmouth, first place winners, turned in a perfect score of 500. McGill was second with 372, and New Hampshire a close third with 350.

New Hampshire skiers were most consistent in the cross-country and jumping events. Capt. Karl Craigin led the Wildcat men in the langlauf, finishing 11th. Johnny Damon placed 18th but his score did not count in the cross-country team total as he was only entered in the combined event. Gene Duffy was 22nd, and Jim Scudder, 26th, to complete New Hampshire's scoring.

Damon placed tenth in the jumping, Craigin, 13th, and Norm Haweeli, 17th. Manton was the first Wildcat to score in the downhill race, finishing in 16th position.

RIFLE TEAM BEATS LOWELL MARKSMEN

Without the services of their three consistent veterans, Pete Lampesis, Ernest Furnans, and Roger Plummer, the New Hampshire rifle team won its second match over an outclassed Lowell Textile squad by the score of 900-833 last Friday at Durham.

Bob DuBois, shooting a 182, was the high scorer of the match.

New Hampshire summary: DuBois—182, Batchelder—181, O'Brien—180, Berry—179, McCormick—178.

U. S. Senator Reynolds says: "Luckies are considerate of my throat"

"Two Southern traditions are oratory — and good tobacco. Lucky Strike shows me how to indulge in both. For this light smoke not only pleases my taste but leaves my throat in condition. Last fall in North Carolina—when I made over 100 speeches—I visited the Lucky Strike factory. I believe I discovered, in the Lucky Strike 'Toasting' process, the secret of what makes this cigarette so considerate of my throat. I have been more than ever an advocate of a light smoke since seeing the extra care and expense devoted to making Luckies easy on the throat."

HON. ROBT R. REYNOLDS
U.S. SENATOR FROM NORTH CAROLINA

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Senator Reynolds' statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

BERLIN HIGH TAKES OVER NASHUA TEAM IN CONCLUDING GAME

Groveton High Noses Out Classy Appleton Squad In Class B, 26 - 24

In a decisive victory over a fighting Nashua team, Berlin High school won the Class A basketball championship for the second year in a row last Saturday night. Groveton overcame a classy Appleton team by the close score of 26-24.

Tourney Starts

The tournament started at 10 o'clock Friday morning, when Groveton defeated Pembroke 19-11. In the other first round games in Class B, Lincoln nosed out Peterboro, 26-22; Somersworth subdued Lancaster, 19-15; and Appleton Academy overpowered St. Mary's, 35-19.

In the elimination round for teams of Class A, Berlin defeated Manchester West, 25-15; Dover beat Manchester Central by the score of 26-18 and Nashua proved themselves superior to the team from Laconia by the score of 44-24. The best game of the preliminary round in either class took place Friday night, when a superior team from Keene took the quintet from Portsmouth into camp by the score of 28-27 in an overtime period of a game packed with thrills and doubt as to the outcome.

The semi-final round in Class B brought together Groveton and Lincoln with the former emerging victorious, 24-12; and the other bracket found Appleton downing Somersworth, 25-18.

Nashua Defeats Keene

The semi-final round for Class A saw Berlin nose out a scrappy Dover outfit by the close score of 19-17. In the other semi-final Nashua defeated Keene in a hard-fought battle.

The finals in both games brought out the best basketball seen in the state this year. The Class B game was especially good with Groveton emerging victor, 26-24. Appleton played a defensive game

Christian Work Members Dedicate New Chapel

The results of many months of planning and work were realized when a new chapel was dedicated in Ballard hall last Friday afternoon.

Early last fall, members of Christian Work, Inc., began weekly vesper services at Ballard hall and, at the same time, began plans for a chapel especially for these services. Lucille True was chosen chairman of the committee and in turn, she chose her co-workers. Shirley Mason, Edward Hayes, Laurence Swallow, Robert Clement, Barbara Dickey, and Rebecca Tinker worked together throughout the early fall planning in detail the room to be made into a chapel.

Many Helpers

Help came from everywhere. Dean M. Gale Eastman constructed the altar, and assistant professor George R. Thomas assisted in the general plans. Benches were made by students and men commissioned by Dean Eastman; Miss Irma Bowen aided in choosing the drapes. With the aid of Mrs. Clark Stevens, simulated stained glass windows have been ordered.

for the first period but was unable to hold the strong team from the north. The score at the end of the half was 14-32 in favor of Groveton. In the second half, however, the lead changed hands six times before Groveton eked out their small margin of victory.

The final game of Class A saw teams representing two cities from the extreme north and south sections of the state battling it out for the state championship. Nashua jumped away to an early lead by the score of 8-0 before Berlin could get started. However, before the end of the first period, Berlin had scored six points and in the second half piled up a lead which they held for the duration of the game, despite the forced attacks of the Gate City boys. The score at the end of the second period was 21-14 in favor of the Mountain Men.

At the start of the second period Berlin started their scoring spree which netted

The actual work began about Thanksgiving last semester, and slowly but surely the room was undergoing a transformation. Last Friday afternoon the chapel was near enough completion for the dedication to take place.

Dedication Services

At five o'clock, a group of people gathered at Ballard hall in the chapel for the dedication service. On the altar in the corner stood the cross and the candlesticks of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire that Mrs. Helen McLaughlin secured for their use. The dark red draperies, the glow of the lighted candles, and the dark stained altar and benches, all presented an unforgettable picture when one entered the chapel. The short service was lead by Van Buren Hopps, with Huldah Boerker playing for the singing.

The chapel which was only a plan earlier in the year has become a reality. Through hard work the chapel is nearly completed and it will serve as a reminder to all those who use it of those people who worked for its realization.

them 12 points, while Nashua managed to score six, leaving the score 33-20 at the end of the third period.

Both Teams Fight

In the final quarter, both teams continued to fight with the Berlin team having the upper hand in the battle. The final score was Berlin 41, Nashua 33.

At the conclusion of the first half of the varsity game, Mr. Carl Lundholm, the director of the tournament, thanked those who had supported the tourney and expressed the gratitude of those in charge for the way in which the players, as well as the spectators, reacted to the games played. He then introduced Howard Locke, the student supervisor of the tournament, who presented the plaques to the winners in the two classes as they were introduced by Mr. Lundholm through the public address system. Lundy then presented the members of the winning teams with gold basketballs as a token for winning the championships in their respective classes and presented the runners-up with silver basketballs in recognition of their fine playing.

All-State Teams

The all-state teams in Classes A and B which were selected by the members of the press at the games were announced. These players took their respective positions on the floor and received the plaudits of the assembled crowd.

The teams selected were:
